THE FESTIVAL OF THE BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

A MOMENT'S glance at the company assembled on Wednesday, under the chairmanship of the Earl Amherst, to assist in the celebration of the Anniversary Festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, must have convinced the experienced observer that there was no failure to be recorded. The attendance of a large number of Masons does not signify, it is true, an exceptionally large total of subscriptions, but the one is generally an index of the other, and so it proved on Wednesday, when, with an enthusiastic assembly, an especially gratifying total of contributions was announced, amounting in the aggregate to upwards of £15,000, the amount declared by the Secretary on the evening of the Festival being £15,043 1s 6d, subsequently increased by an addition of £200 to the Kentish total, and by various amounts since received, to a few pounds short of £15,500. This splendid announcement shows an increase of upwards of £2,000 above the total of last year, and will, no doubt, be received as a very pleasing and satisfactory surprise by a large number of those who take an interest in the welfare of the Masonic Charitable Institutions. Certain it is that the total is far above what was generally expected, and even up to the last minute, when the totals of most of the Provinces had been read out, there were few who anticipated any increase over the aggregate of last year, even if that total was reached. But Kent and London did so well that the total of last year was not only equalled, but exceeded, as already stated.

The following is a list of the contributing Provinces, the number of Stewards representing each, and the respective totals of subscriptions announced on the evening of the Festival:—

The Festival itself was of the ordinary character, except that the more ornamental members of the Craft were conspicuous by their absence, their places being filled by others who, if not quite so distinguished in Freemasonry, gave evidence of equal interest in its work of benevolence on behalf of the aged Brother and the Widow. Earl Amherst, in his eminently practical manner, omitted much of what we have come to regard as necessary common place utterances at such gatherings, but there were very few present who could find fault with him on this point. The Stewards who attend the Festivals of the Institutions are usually practical men, who have heard the complimentary toasts of the Craft proposed time after time, and in very many cases have proposed them themselves, so that they are hardly likely to resent the omission of lengthy speeches from a chairman who prefers to allow the loyal toasts to stand entirely on their merits, without eulogy or comment from the chair. With the toast of the Grand Officers was coupled the name of Lord Dungarvan, Provincial Grand Master Designate of Somersetshire, who, the Chairman said, had come that evening to honour the Festival, and would, he hoped, carry away with him pleasant memories of that his first appearance at a Masonic Charity Festival.

Lord Dungarvan, in reply, said:—

The position he was in was one which he certainly was very proud of, because probably he was the youngest of the Grand Officers, and that was an unusual occurrence at a great Masonic Festival. It was with great pleasure he responded to the toast, because the Right Worshipful Chairman had alluded to a very great Mason, the late Earl of Carnarvon, and that noble earl he (Lord Dungarvan) had the honour to succeed in the Provincial Grand Mastership of Somerset. It was a most responsible position to be the successor to one whom this great country could so ill afford to lose. The Grand Officers took a lively interest in the benevolent objects of Freemasonry, and he was keenly alive to that great principle. It was an additional pleasure to respond to that toast, because Lord Amherst was the Provincial Grand Master over a Lodge in which he hoped shortly to occupy the high position of Worshipful Master. Lord Amherst had alluded to the circumstance that he (Lord Dungarvan) would one day occupy the chair at those Festivals. He could only say that if that honour was offered to him he would be delighted to take advantage of it, and if that should ever occur he hoped he would do his duty in the position, more especially to his Province of Somerset, which he hoped would support him as well as the Province of Kent had supported their Provincial Grand Master that evening.

Lord Amherst next proposed :—

Success to the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution for Aged Freemasons and Widows of Freemasons. Hitherto the toasts of the evening had been despatched with some celerity, but he was afraid he must now intrude himself a little longer on the notice of the brethren, as the Institution which caused the brethren's attendance that evening deserved some more lengthened observations, and he trusted that what he might say would commend itself to their thoughtful consideration. The Masonic Institutions stood in a peculiar position, a different position to other charitable institutions, because at the festivals of Charities which were not Masonic the lists went round when the dinner was completed, and the Chairman might hope by appealing to his hearers to seduce some lingering guinea from the corner of some pocket where it had hitherto seemed forgotten. But at the Masonic Festivals the Chairman was in this position—that the Stewards had already done their work, and he was afraid had done it so effectually that if a guinea was found there it was a great discovery. Let them hope that the most worthy Secretary, Bro. Terry, would be satisfied when he announced the lists, and that they would show that the result of the Stewards' efforts had not been in vain, and that the sum which had been obtained would be worthy of the occasion which had called them together. He would be wrong in dismissing the toast without giving the brethren some little detail of the work of the Charity on whose behalf they were assembled. He need not go into the past history of the Institution—a long recitation of the past of the Charity would be somewhat of a mistake. Their task was with the present, although the Institution had done a great work in the past. As regarded the present needs of the Institution, he found by the figures which the excellent Secretary had put in his hands, that on the old men's fund the annual income was £2030, and without any charges for the establishment or maintenance, there was a yearly call on the old men's fund alone of £7240. That was a large sum, but the brethren must remember that they were now giving annuities to 181 males, of £40 each. That was a very large expenditure, and if the annual deficit had to be made up on these occasions, the brethren must remember the deficit was not caused by the management and those who had charge of the Charity, but by the large claims on the Charity and the small amount of the income. Take the Female side of the Institution. They had 230 widows, each receiving £32. That entailed an expense of £7360 a year. And there were in addition widows receiving half of their late husband's annuities to the amount of £480 a year. The two amounted to £7840 a year. As against that they had the permanent sources of income, and the grants from Grand Lodge and Grand Chapter, and the dividends from the funded property, £1634, left a deficit on the female side of £6200 per annum, or a deficit on the two funds of something like £13,000 a year. That had to be made up by the liberality of the Craft. That was a serious matter. But the Craft hitherto had never failed to make up the amount of the difference between the income on which the Charity could rely and the amount which was required to meet the demand made on the Institution. All the cases which sought to be put on the list were carefully examined by the Committee, and they were certified to be worthy. There were on the list a larger number than could possibly be elected. That being so, it behoved the brethren to strain every nerve to support such a deserving Charity. The brethren must remember that those on behalf of whom he pleaded had been once in reputable circumstances, many of them had come among the brethren and been at those Festivals, and now through old age and no fault of their own were in want of relief. There might be widows for whom he was pleading whose late husbands sat at those Festivals and subscribed their money to the Charity liberally, some of them perhaps had taken their part as Stewards, and in their career had recommended the cause all Freemasons had at heart. Masonry was not a great benefit society. He had always insisted on those occasions that Freemasonry never was and was never intended to be a great benefit society. In its Institutions it was carrying out the highest principles of the Order; it was carrying out the cause which had banded Masons together—the endeavour to alleviate the wants and sufferings of those who had given their lifetime to the Order and were worthy members of the Craft. He could wish that at the close of that Festival a considerable addition might be made to the funded property of the Institution so that the calls on the brethren annually would be less. But the respected Secretary, Bro. Terry, had mentioned that the Craft in England had never failed in their liberality, and it was to be hoped that the income might be made up to such a sum as to be able to meet all the demands which might grow up. He hoped that sufficient funds would be available so that the Committee might never have to deny those who wanted assistance. The brethren would not, he was sure, have been present that night in such large numbers if they had not been sure that the Charity was well worthy of their support. He did not hope that any word of his could extract any more from their pockets; as he had said, the Stewards had left him in the peculiar position of not being able to get another guinea. But if that was the case, the efforts of the Stewards had not been in vain. They might have to support the other Charities of the Order, to educate the boys and girls of those who had fallen into distress; but even though they had to support those,

“Let them the tender office long engage,
And smooth the pillow of declining age.”

He trusted that the Craft would show it was not unworthy of them as men and as Masons. He was sure that the brethren would not refuse to drink in the heartiest way the toast which he now proposed.

Bro. J. A. Farnfield, Treasurer of the Institution, responded, and then Bro. Terry, the Secretary, announced the amount of the subscriptions, of which we give full details elsewhere. Bro. Farnfield said :—

It was with somewhat of mixed feelings they had approached that Festival, because they knew that next year the Jubilee of the Institution would take place, and they feared that many of the brethren would hold back from being Stewards this year, in order to come forward next, and raise so large a sum as to obtain a fund to which the Chairman had so properly alluded. Fortunately, however, Lord Amherst came forward as Chairman, and he had been nobly supported by the Kentish brethren.

Lord Dungarvan proposed the health of the Chairman; he said :—

He had just asked Lord Amherst how long he had been a Freemason, and the reply was that it was so long he could scarcely remember. He did not believe that, but Lord Amherst told him he had been a Provincial Grand Master for over 30 years. He (Lord Dungarvan) thought he was the youngest Provincial Grand Master; now Lord Amherst said he was appointed Provincial Grand Master when he was 24 years of age. He (Lord Dungarvan) only hoped that by following Lord Amherst's example he would one day obtain some of that respect and esteem with which Lord Amherst was treated by every one. It was very hard to say in a man's presence what one thought of him, but he might say that as Freemasons they were all delighted to pay honour where honour was due, and he asked them to honour the Chairman by drinking his health.

Earl Amherst, in reply, said :—

He was extremely obliged to the brethren for the kind way in which they had responded to the toast, and to his R.W. Brother for the kind way in which he had proposed it. If his services on occasions like the present were of any use to Masonry, so much the better for him, for he could only say it gave him the greatest possible pleasure to come forward to help the Institution. He had to thank the brethren who had supported him, particularly those of his own Province, but they never refused to come forward to support him. On those occasions it was more the cause of Charity they came to support. The Chairman was a finely ornamental figure. Nevertheless, he thanked the brethren for their response and for their kind reception of him that evening.

Bro. Major George Lambert proposed “The Other Masonic Institutions.”

It was only right and proper that while they thought most kindly of the old people with whom they had had the honour and pleasure of, perhaps, being associated with in those Festivals, and who, perhaps, had supported the boys and the girls, they should not be oblivious of the fact that the children of Masons were growing up and must be looked after and sought out and educated to make them useful members of society and a credit to the Craft. The Girls' School was a Grand Institution, and it was a great privilege to assist and help it. They were not forgetful of the Centenary year of the Institution, when they received so large an amount of money at their meeting in the Albert Hall. They thought a great deal of that, and they respected the brethren who so largely contributed on that occasion; they thanked them even now, and he hoped and trusted that when the Benevolent Institution for the poor and aged had its Jubilee Festival next year, and its Centenary 50 years later, the brethren would muster round its Chairmen and be even more numerous than they were that night. With regard to the Boys' School he wished it God-speed in the way it was being conducted. Great alterations had been made in its arrangements which they felt were for its good. They got out of the beaten track and wanted new blood. That new blood had been poured into it, and it must prosper. Let them not allow it to go to the wall for want of support, but help it in its indigence and in the good and excellent education it was giving. He hoped both the Boys' and the Girls' Schools would be well to the fore this year, and he had now the pleasure of proposing success to those two great Charities, which he asked every brother in the room to support.

The toast was honoured, and then Bro. Terry expressed regret at the absence of Bro. Hedges, who, he was sorry to say, was ill, and Bro. McLeod, who had gone to Newark, and was on his way to the Festival, had not yet arrived. The present was the first occasion he could remember of the other two Institutions being unrepresented at the Festival of the Benevolent.

Bro. Col. Clifford proposed “The Stewards,” and Bro. J. S. Eastes D.P.G.M. Kent, President of the Board, in response, said :—

He had hoped that the proposition of the toast would have been left to the Chairman, the Provincial Grand Master of Kent; but, on behalf of the Board of Stewards, he begged to say that those brethren felt very gratified at the acknowledgment of their work. It was a very hearty toast. There was a large Board of Stewards from the Province of Kent. The Board of Stewards had done their utmost to make that Festival a success, and all must admit that the Province of Kent had done a great deal. They had that sort of kinship in Kent that when their Provincial Grand Master presided over anything they supported him. Earl Amherst had done so on former occasions, and he had done so that day. He (Bro. Eastes) was happy and proud to preside over the Board of Stewards. Outside the Province of Kent they had had a large amount of success, and he thanked all those brethren from his Province for the great amount of work they had done. He was sure they would congratulate him and the Institution heartily on the very great success now achieved. They must all admit that a very large amount of that success was due to Earl Amherst's presidency. He had only one word more to say—the Countess Amherst, the Chairman's wife, was present in the concert room, and would be happy to meet the brethren there.

The toast of "The Ladies" was proposed by Bro. the Rev. Dr. Lemon P.P.G.W. and P.P.G. Chap. Devon, and responded to by Bro. Major George Lambert, and the brethren then adjourned to the Temple, where Bro. Earl Amherst presided over a concert, in which the following artistes took part: Madame Adeline Paget, Miss Emily Foxcroft, Brother Edward Dalzell, Bro. Alfred Moore (director); solo violin, Mons. Victor Buziau; concertina, Signor Alsepi; and pianoforte, Bro. W. W. Hedgcock and Mr. Frank Abernethy, Mus. Bac. Oxon. The orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Asperne Deane, gave a selection of music during dinner.

We have much pleasure in adding our congratulations to the Secretary and management of the Benevolent Institution on the success of the Festival, and further hope that all the good wishes expressed in regard to the celebration of the Jubilee next year may be abundantly realised. The event falls very near the Centenary of the Girls' School, but that should not be so great an obstacle as to preclude the possibility of the Old People securing an equal success as was achieved on behalf of the Girls on that memorable occasion.

THE RECEPTION OF VISITORS.

THE two end-men of a Lodge are the Worshipful Master and the Tyler. The one is all powerful within the Lodge, the other without. But there is something central between the two which should dominate both—the First Great Light in Freemasonry. That Great Light is in itself a compendium of Freemasonry, and the Worshipful Master and Tyler especially, and all Brethren generally, should square their actions by its precepts.

One of the leading principles enumerated by this Great Light is brotherly love—courtesy—kindness.

The first official called upon to exercise this virtue towards visitors is the Tyler. He is doubly bound to the faithful performance of this duty, first that he is a Freemason, and second because he is a paid Officer of the Lodge.

As a Mason the Tyler is under obligation to courteously receive every well-behaved stranger who claims to be a Brother, and asks to enjoy the privilege of visiting the Lodge. If the Tyler is not a good Mason he is not fit to be stationed at the outer door. His position is one of large authority and responsibility. If he be truant to his trust he may keep every visitor out of the Lodge. If he desire to play the tyrant he may play it—for a short space of time. But such a Tyler's days are, or should be, numbered. As soon as it becomes known that he is persistently unfaithful to his trust, he should first be admonished, and afterwards if necessary discharged.

But a Tyler is bound not merely as a Freemason to courteously receive a strange applicant for admission; he is bound as a paid official to respectfully greet every one not a manifest cowan, who desires to knock at the outer door, and as promptly as may be he should further his request by sending in his name to the Lodge. Too often Lodge Tylers are derelict in the performance of this duty. Too often they are consequential and imperious. Too often they assume all the powers of the Master of the Lodge, thus altogether depriving him of any opportunity to act for himself. Not unfrequently a strange Brother who desires to visit a Lodge, turns away from it in disgust after having been rebuffed by a faithless Tyler. And what a character is given the Lodge thus represented by its Tyler! It is the duty of any Brother who witnesses such conduct to promptly inform the Worshipful Master. Of course he is, from his position, ignorant of it; and yet the reputation of his Lodge is suffering from the unjustifiable and unmasonic conduct of one of its paid officials.

There are many faithful, courteous, obliging, long-suffering Tylers. Of course what we have said does not apply to them. But it does apply to the impatient, snappish, snarling, imperious Brother, who forgets both his Freemasonry and his salary, when he meets and maltreats a stranger who craves admission through him to the Lodge.

But the vicissitudes of visiting are not past when the name of a visitor has been sent into the Lodge, nor indeed even after the visitor himself is admitted.

The duties of the Worshipful Master begin as soon as the visitor's name is announced to him. His first duty is, if the applicant be unknown and desires to be examined, to promptly appoint the proper committee. We say promptly. To delay this matter is virtually to say to the applicant, we do not desire to have you visit us, and after waiting a considerable time he is apt to depart. Of course the work is not to be delayed for a proposed visitor; but this is unnecessary. Promptness entails no hardship on any one, and if it be omitted it is simply from neglect. This neglect of visitors is a sin of omission on the part of a Worshipful Master—he omits to do his duty. That Lodge is fortunate and of good repute which possesses a Master who never forgets the applications for admission from visitors.

We will suppose the Tyler and Master to have faithfully performed their several duties; now it is the members' turn to perform theirs.

A visitor may be received within the Lodge, and comfortably seated, and yet feel not at all at home. Only the members can give him this home feeling. They should welcome him cordially, converse with him freely, introduce him to those sitting near him, and treat him as they would wish to be treated themselves were their places reversed, and they visiting his Lodge. We do not know of a more dreary way of spending an evening than to visit a strange Lodge, and have no brother approach or speak to you. Such conduct is un-Masonic. It is contrary to the teachings of the Great Light and to all the principles of the Fraternity. Central in the Lodge is that Great Light. Central in our physical body is the heart. Central in our conduct towards our brethren should be brotherly love and fraternal courtesy.

There is no greater pleasure in Freemasonry than to visit a Lodge in which you are heartily received and welcomed. You then experience Freemasonry in action—not precept, but practice. You realize that the Craft does not consist of isolated Lodges, but composes one great fraternity. We are all one. Lodge lines are swept away. Even jurisdictions are forgotten. The universal brotherhood is everything. Tylers, Worshipful Masters and Brethren cannot too faithfully perform their duties in this regard, thereby causing their Lodge to be noted for their fraternal reception of visitors. It will make those Lodges prosperous, and their meetings enjoyable and truly Masonic.—Keystone.

The Queen's favourite son Arthur, in addition to his military position, is also an exalted member of that "knife and fork" company known as Freemasons, who, in their fantastic nomenclature, are running the Primrose League very close. The Quarterly Convocation of Supreme Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of England has lately been held in the Temple. This "sesquipedalian" title is almost good enough for the dizzy heights and flights of Primrose fancy, but the Dames and Knights and Ruling Concoillors are quite put into the shade by the rank and "distinguished clothing" presented gratuitously to the Duke of Connaught and Strathearn by Grand Chapter. We are almost afraid the capitals in our type-boxes will fail before we set up the title in full. "Past First Grand Principal, Grand Superintendent of Royal Arch Masons in the District of Bombay." If the "clothing of the distinguished rank" is as voluminous as its superscription, it will keep our Arthur warm for many a long day. If Arthur wears this delicious dress on the auspicious occasion of standing sponsor to the Centaur, David's description of the King's daughter will stand admirably for the presentment of the Queen's son. She was all glorious within; whereas Patrick will be the same thing outside. For the rest, his clothing will be of wrought gold, and he shall be brought unto the Queen in raiment of needlework. Unfortunately, however, we fear that the Masonic finery will have to be worn, if at all, under the military, which is a pity.—Modern Society.

HIGHER AND SIDE DEGREES.

THERE is no phase of Freemasonry which is more confusing to the neophyte, and more productive of anxious thought to the advanced Masonic thinker, than the notable development of bodies which, whilst generally speaking Masonic in their inception and government, are deviations from, or additions to, the original plan of pure and ancient Masonry, as consisting of three degrees, or probably at first, of only one. The beginner in the Craft finds it most difficult to understand how it is that a man can hold a thirtieth or a thirty-third degree, and yet be only small beer in the hierarchy of the Craft as it appears to view in his own Lodge, and the Masonic student is often seriously perplexed as to how far he ought to go in admitting the claims to Masonic recognition of bodies which are pressing themselves almost daily upon his attention in a stream which apparently knows no ending. Officially the English or Scottish Mason is almost without guidance. The former finds that his Grand Lodge actually and de jure recognises only the three Craft degrees and the Royal Arch, and the latter that his parent body only adds to these the Mark and Cryptic Degrees, which however are given a position entirely subordinate to the R.A. And yet Masons of both Constitutions know perfectly well that other bodies exist side by side with those officially recognised, so intimately linked with them that a de facto connection is to all intents and purposes established. Then the Dutch Mason finds still another system placed before him, and the Scottish Rite degrees recognised by and exercising almost a dominant influence over those of the Craft, whilst some degrees very commonly taken by his British brother are to him unknown. Dutch Freemasonry constitutes really one official system with no bodies holding roving commissions outside it, and the same thing is true of the Masonry of the Continent in general. More or less of the Ancient and Accepted Rite is practically welded with the Craft, the supreme power of government being exercised sometimes by one, sometimes by the other, and in other cases both working concurrently after the fashion of the political and religious administrations of a country. But whatever may be the distribution of power, whether the Ineffable Degrees govern the Symbolic, or vice versa, no degrees exist except those officially recognised, and nobody is in doubt as to what is Masonic, and what is not. And again, in the United States we have a further arrangement of Rites. The Craft Lodges, the Cryptic Degrees, the Royal Arch (including the Mark), and the Knight Templar, although under four separate governing bodies, are definitely considered as portions of one regular system, known as the American Rite, or sometimes but incorrectly, called the "York Rite." Alongside this "Rite" we have the system of the "Scottish Rite," which occupies a similar position in relationship to the conglomeration of bodies just named to that held by it in England towards the Grand Lodge. Outside these two systems we have an almost endless variety of bodies calling themselves Masonic, all of them quite modern, and many very shadowy creations indeed. They all sail entirely in their own boats, and to our mind their perpetual multiplication is fraught with much danger to the Craft, and unfortunately it is a danger with which we may at any time be confronted, as they are gradually being imported to the Eastern Hemisphere, where confusion worse confounded seems bound to be the result. And it is pretty evident that in order to put an end to this wholesale importation of new "Orders," whose main Masonic historical connection seem to be with the cargoes of apes and peacocks which our Grand Master King Solomon brought into Israel from afar, some definite official enumeration is wanted of the degrees which are to be considered Masonic. The Craft Grand Lodge should, despite any outcry about variation from time honoured precedent, exercise its inherent right of defining what are legitimate ornamentations on its own workmanship, and what are only knobs and excrescences.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—The Great Need.—The blood is the life, and on its purity our health as well as our existence depends. These Pills thoroughly cleanse the vital fluid from all contaminations, and by that means strengthen and invigorate the whole system, healthily stimulate sluggish organs, repress over-excited action, and establish the circulation and secretions throughout every part of the body. The balsamic nature of Holloway's Pills exercises marvellous power in giving tone to debilitated and nervous constitutions. These Pills remove all obstructions, both in the bowels and elsewhere, and are, on that account, much sought after for promoting regularity of action in young females and delicate persons who are naturally weak, or have from some cause become so.

NOTICES OF MEETINGS.

—:O:—

LODGE OF UNION, No. 38.

THE installation meeting was held on the 5th inst. The retiring W.M. Bro. Inkpen presided at the opening of the proceedings. Subsequently the ceremony of installing the W.M. elect Bro. Doman was performed by Bro. J. St. Clair P.P.J.G.W., and the first act of the newly installed W.M. was to present a P.M.'s jewel to his predecessor, which had been voted by the brethren to Bro. Inkpen, in recognition of his services in the chair during the year. The W.M. appointed and invested the following as his Officers for the year:—Bros. Inkpen I.P.M., Charge S.W., Fielden J.W., Rev. H. M. Davey Chaplain, Wyatt P.M. Treas., Hawes P.M. Sec., Gower S.D., Moore J.D., Smith D.C., Lambert Organist, G. Fielder jun. I.G., Howard and Malby Stewards, Beatson Tyler. At the conclusion of the business in Lodge, the brethren repaired to the Assembly Rooms. Here an interesting collection of Masonic relics, some the property of the Lodge, and others lent by various brethren, had been arranged round the walls. A banquet was served in the same room, by Mr. Hardham, East Street, which gave every satisfaction.

LONDON LODGE, No. 108.

ON Saturday, the 14th inst., this old Lodge met at the Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall Street, under the Mastership of Bro. Tritton, when Bro. Girling was passed. Bro. Green then installed Bro. Baker as Master for the year. After the Officers had been appointed Bro. Baker initiated Mr. F. J. Horniman (who is a candidate for the shrievalty of London, and for the parliamentary representation of Shrewsbury), Mr. T. J. Vincent, and Mr. Gustavus Landsberger into Freemasonry. Bros. Sir J. R. Somers Vine Grand Deacon, and Major J. Sampson Peirce Past Grand Deacon, were among the guests. The newly-made brethren, in speaking after the banquet, said that they should heartily support the three Charitable Institutions, and Brother Horniman assured the brethren that he should immediately become a Life Governor of each.

VIRTUE LODGE, No. 152.

THE installation of Bro. T. Gillibrand took place, and the St. John's Festival was celebrated on the 20th inst., in the Freemasons' Hall, Cooper Street, Manchester. Bros. J. Daniel W.M., T. Gillibrand S.W., Rev. John Watson P.P.G.C. Chaplain, A. A. Millington Secretary, John Cantrill S.D., John Campbell J.D., Geo. C. Williams P.M. Dir. of Cers., James Herbert Yates Organist, John Davies I.G., Past Masters David Conway, N. Dumville, Wm. Jaffrey P.P.G.J.D., G. V. Blackie, and John Pritchard; Bros. Crompton, Wragge, Hobbs, Ingram, Ireland, Morton, Kinder, Norton and Constantine. Visitors—Bros. Evau Williams P.M. 325, E. Collingwood P.M. 298, S. J. The Lodge was opened at 3:30, and after confirming the minutes of last meeting, Bro. E. G. Constantine was passed to the second degree. The installation ceremony was next proceeded with, Bro. J. I. Daniel performing the duties of Installing Master. Bro. T. Gillibrand having been duly presented was, after the usual preliminaries, inducted into the chair of K.S. with all due rite and ceremony. The following brethren were invested as Officers for the year, and addressed by Bro. Wm. Jaffrey P.M. P.P.G.J.W.:—Bros. Batt S.W., Cantrill J.W., Rev. J. Watson Chaplain, Erwin Treasurer, Crompton Secretary, Millington S.D., Campbell J.D., Williams Dir. of Cers., Davies I.G., Yates Organist, Norton and Froggart Stewards. Bro. Conway addressed the W.M., and Bro. Williams the Wardens and Brethren. The ceremony throughout was well performed, an additional charm connected therewith being the choral and instrumental musical service, composed by Bro. N. Dumville P.M., who generously presented a number of copies to the Lodge. A cordial vote of thanks was awarded Bro. Dumville for his kindness. REVIEWS.

All Books intended for Review should be addressed to the Editor of The Freemason's Chronicle, Belvidere Works, Hermes Hill, Pentonville, London, N.

The Dorset Masonic Calendar for 1891, compiled by Bro. John A. Sherren. Weymouth: Sherren and Son, 79 St. Mary Street.

This handy little book is once more before us, and we must compliment Bro. Sherren on the way he has done his work. All interesting items in connection with Dorset are given, among which we may mention the list of meetings of all degrees working in the Province, the list of Grand Lodge, Provincial Grand Lodge, Officers Present and Past, the Masonic Notes, the annual summary, full information about the Charities, and every other conceivable information that could be wished for. The book is printed in neat and careful style, and is published under the direction of the Prov. Grand Master. In conclusion we may mention that Bro. Sherren thanks the Prov. Grand Secretary and the Officers of the various Lodges and Chapters for their cheerful assistance in the work of compilation.

The Cornish Lodge in London bids fair to be a very successful one, and to take a prominent place amongst the so-called class Lodges of the metropolis. This success is the more extraordinary as we believe it is the first attempt that has been made to establish a Lodge under the English Constitutions in which the members are recruited from one Province, and that Province by no means a large one compared with many in the north. The promoters, however, had faith in the well-known Cornish motto of "One and All," and the result has proved far beyond their expectations. A numerous-attended meeting was recently held at the Freemasons' Hall, when several Cornishmen resident in London, including the Revs. Cannon Shuttleworth and Vivian Tyrell, were either initiated or passed to the other degrees, and those present afterwards dined together, under the genial presidency of Bro. N. J. West,

He is a Life-Governor of the R.M.I. Boys, and R.M. Benevolent Institution. In consequence of heavy losses in business, and severe domestic affliction, his position became greatly altered, and he is now filling a situation at a very small salary, this being the only means he has of supporting himself, his wife, and four children.

There are very painful circumstances connected with this case which render it well worthy of support, and it is strongly recommended by the following Brethren:—

QUARTERLY COMMUNICATION OF UNITED GRAND LODGE.

THE following is the business to be transacted in Grand Lodge on Wednesday, 4th March 1891, at 6 for 7 p.m.

1. The minutes of the Quarterly Communication of the 3rd December 1890 will be read and put for confirmation.

2. Communication from the Most Worshipful Grand Master:—

The Most Worshipful Grand Master regrets to have to inform Grand Lodge that in the month of August last he received a Report from the District Grand Lodge of Wellington, New Zealand, that Brother Sir Robert Stout, K.C.M.G., Past Assistant G. Director of Ceremonies and Deputy District Grand Master of Otago and Southland, had obtained a Warrant from the Grand Orient of France, to establish a Lodge under it in New Zealand, and had, under that authority, recently opened a Lodge in the town of Wellington in that Colony, of which Lodge he is the Master.

On receipt of this information, the Grand Master directed the Grand Secretary to address Brother Sir Robert Stout on the subject, and to call on him for an explanation of the grounds on which he felt himself justified in thus taking part in an invasion of British territory by a foreign Masonic Body, and especially by one, many of whose members had been declared by a Solemn Resolution of the Grand Lodge of England, on the 6th March 1878, not to be true and genuine Brethren.

A reply has now been received from Brother Sir Robert Stout on the subject, in which he admits the facts alleged, and seeks to justify his action.

Under these circumstances, the Grand Master, with much regret, feels that he has no alternative but to make a complaint of the conduct of Brother Sir Robert Stout, and to submit the matter, with the correspondence relating thereto, to Grand Lodge for its consideration and decision.

3. Election of a M.W. Grand Master.

4. Election of a Grand Treasurer. Brother George Everett P.M. No. 177, London, the only nomination.

Orrell, Ald. Woodiwiss, J.P., and many others.

On the 17th inst., the remains of the late Bro. Mark Douglass, of 7 Salem Street, Sunderland, were interred at Ryhope Road Cemetery. The relatives of the deceased and a considerable number of private friends followed his remains to the grave. The Rev. Canon Mathie, St. Paul's, officiated at the Cemetery. The Masonic Brethren who followed the cortège were about fifty in number.

Writing of the Craft, I observe that a good Masonic record has just been published, and local brethren of the mystic tie, especially those who were active with him in the Province, will welcome Bro. G. W. F. Loftus' copious "Reminiscences of 26 years of Freemasonry; by a P.P. Grand Officer of Norfolk." It is handsomely got up, and appropriately bound in purple and gold, and it is dedicated to the W.M. and brethren of the Doric Lodge, 1193, Wymondham, where he has been a frequent W.M. The book is full of anecdotes, from the night of Bro. Loftus' initiation at Lodge Social in 1864 to the present period, under the régime of four R.W. P.G.M.'s—Cabbell, Morgan, Walpole, and Suffield; and ranging from such grave subjects as the great Thorpe accident, in which many brethren after attending a Lodge consecration came near being involved, to trivialities like the spoiling of the Rev. Bro. Rust's apron at North Walsham. Things are a bit mixed, but the little volume will nevertheless prove interesting locally. Bro. Loftus has long left Braconash for "The Garden of England," where at Bromley he still takes an interest in all good social, political, and benevolent movements.

THE THEATRES, &c.

Globe.—We must congratulate Mr. Norman Forbes upon his revival of "The Parvenu," a comedy by Mr. G. W. Godfrey, originally produced at the old Court Theatre, in 1832. Though somewhat following the school of T. W. Robertson, the piece is brightly and pleasantly written, and appeals strongly to the susceptibilities of the audience. The author endeavours to show that "true hearts are more than coronets, and simple faith than Norman blood," and for this purpose introduces a fine, manly, independent fellow of the people, who has risen by his own endeavours to the position of M.P., as opposed to a mean-spirited impecunious scion of the upper classes. The result is obvious, so that when the good-natured Mr. Ledger triumphs over Sir Falke Pettigrew, we do not accept the verdict altogether, but agree that there are exceptions to every rule. The entire cast is fresh to the piece, and we therefore witness an entirely new performance. Mr. Harry Paulton gives a very different rendering to the character of Ledger to that presented by Mr. G. W. Anson, the humorous scenes being more broadly defined; but his principal scene with Gwendoline Pettigrew is intensely pathetic, and elicited hearty applause. Mr. Ian Robertson gives an effective representation of the pretentious baronet; Mr. William Herbert is excellent as the young artist, Claude Glynne; and Mr. Sngden is an agreeable representative of the Hon. Charles Tracey. Of the ladies, Miss Fanny Coleman stands first, with her most artistic impersonation of the husband-hunting Lady Pettigrew; Miss Lucy Backstone is a charming Gwendoline, while Ledger's daughter is pleasantly played by Miss Laura Linden. Mr. Walter Johnstone has provided a pretty scene, which represents the disputed piece of land between the two gentlemen's estates, whereon the action is supposed to take place. The programme still includes Mr. W. G. Wills' version of "Gringoire," with Mr. Forbes as the fortunate poet, so that altogether a capital entertainment is provided. On account of the success attending the revival, a matinée of "The Parvenu" will be given to-day, Saturday, at two o'clock.

Avenue.—This house has now passed into the hands of Mr. Henry Lee, who has revived the romantic drama of "Monte Cristo," with Mr. Charles Warren as Edmond Dantes, a varied part to which he does full justice. He enters with spirit into the light hearted scenes, and is equally effective where force and dignity are required. The really beautiful soliloquy in the last act, where Dantes realises the impotence of his vengeance, is admirably given, and evoked loud applause. Miss Jessie Millward is well placed as Mercedes, Mr. J. G. Grabame renders Fernand with due regard to the text, and Mr. L. Lablache is also exceedingly good as Danglars. The small part of the drunken Caderouse is well played by Mr. J. G. Taylor, and the various disguises of the scheming Noirtier are effectively sustained by Mr. Henry Lee. Messrs. J. R. Cranford and E. H. Vanderfelt lend material assistance as De Villefort and Albert, while Miss Elsie Chester, Miss Helena Dacre, and Messrs. J. A. Howell, C. Fulton, and Geo. Warde represent the remaining characters. Wonders in the way of scenic arrangements have been done with the small stage, and the costumes of the period are faithfully reproduced. The piece is watched with keen interest by the audience, who testify their appreciation of the actors' efforts at the termination of each act. Mr. Bronson Howard's comedy, "The Henrietta," is in preparation, and will shortly be produced.

Terry's Theatre will remain closed Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday next, re-opening Thursday evening with Arthur Law's new 3 Act Farce "Culprits," in which will be seen Messrs. Edward Terry, Fred Kaye, H. De Lange, Walter Everard, H. V. Esmond, Robert Soutar; Mesdames Sophie Larkin, Elinore Leyshon, Alice Yorke Eva Moore and Susie Vaughan.

Holborn Choral Society.—A small but promising band of amateurs, who take unto themselves the designation of the Holborn Choral Society, gave a performance, on Tuesday last, at the Holborn Town Hall. For the opening night of their seventh season the conductor, Bro. J. T. Hutchinson, had provided a miscellaneous programme for the first part of the entertainment, while Mr. John Francis Barnett's familiar cantata, "The Ancient Mariner," formed the chief attraction during the second part. Coleridge's picturesque poem was rendered in a manner creditable to its exponents. Perhaps sufficient attention had not been paid to the orchestral accompaniments, but Messrs. Harvey Löhr and S. R. Philpot, the gentlemen who presided at the pianoforte and harmonium respectively, acquitted themselves efficiently. Mr. Barnett certainly followed the varying moods of his poet with no little success when he composed "The Ancient Mariner," and for this reason, if for no other, his music must always demand especial care and watchfulness on the part of its interpreters. The ever changing emotions expressed in the score were produced on this occasion with more distinctness than characterised the enunciation by the choir of their words. But the Holborn Choral Society is, comparatively speaking, in its youth, but, under the careful and scholarly training it will receive at the hands of Bro. Hutchinson, we may hope for great improvement as time rolls on.

Trocadero Music Hall.—This comfortable place of amusement having been thoroughly redecorated throughout, by Messrs. McLachlan and Sons, now presents a pretty and cheerful appearance, while a liberal use of the electric light causes a very brilliant effect. Mr. Sam Adams is, however, too astute a manager to rely merely upon the convenience of his house, and has provided an excellent programme, which has proved highly acceptable to his patrons. Old favourites like Charles Collette, Arthur Lloyd, Jolly Nash, and Charles Godfrey are associated with newer candidates for popular favour, and all work well to secure the desired result. Miss Elsa Joel, a young artiste with a fine soprano voice, makes her first appearance here, and the nimble Ida Heath has some pretty dances. An interesting item is "a military Terpsichorean sketch" entitled "Rose Pompon," the characters in which are sustained by Miss Edith Rayner, Mr. Henry Besley, and Mr. M. West, in a lively and satisfactory manner. Whether a visitor spends the entire evening, or merely drops in for a spare hour, he is sure to be pleased with the entertainment.

ALDERSGATE LODGE, No. 1657.

ON Monday, the 16th instant, the installation meeting of the Aldersgate Lodge was held at the Albion, under the presidency of Brother Hudson, C.C., the Worshipful Master. Bro. Sir John B. Monckton installed Bro. W. R. Webb in his usual impressive manner. The other Officers appointed were Bros. Larkin S.W., Fuller J.W., White P.M. Treasurer, Jolliffe P.M. Secretary, Rawlinson S.D., Shotton J.D., Croft I.G. The closing of the Lodge was followed by an excellent banquet. The usual Loyal and Craft toasts were given and heartily received, and Bro. Sandeman replied for the Grand Officers. Bro. Alderman Reynolds gave the health of the Worshipful Master, remarking that few words were necessary to commend this toast to their notice. Most of them knew the Worshipful Master as a most intimate friend, and when initiated in that Lodge, some years ago, they all recognised that in him were abilities which would force him to the front, not only in the Lodge, but in the world outside. He asked them to drink to the health of the Worshipful Master; and he felt certain that, among the many memories which their Master would have in the future, none would afford him so much satisfaction as those which would surround him during the year that he was Master of the Aldersgate Lodge. The Master, who was loudly cheered, heartily thanked the members of the Lodge for having received him with so much kindness, and especially for the exceedingly warm and kindly manner in which they had welcomed the toast that evening. In proposing the health of the Installing Master, Bro. Sir John Monckton, who had so auspiciously installed him into office that evening, the Master said they owed a double debt of gratitude to Bro. Sir John, first, for remaining with them, and secondly, for the very interesting ceremony he had performed in the Lodge. He was afraid that they very often trespassed too much upon his kindness, but his high position in the Craft must be their excuse. Bro. Sir John Monckton most warmly thanked the Lodge for the honour they had done him in inviting him to instal the Worshipful Master for the year ensuing. It had been his good fortune to instal some hundreds of Masters, and he naturally gravitated to City Lodges. The Aldersgate Lodge was essentially a City Lodge. He prophesied for their very promising Master a most successful and auspicious year of office. The Worshipful Master proposed the health of Bro. Jolliffe, and said he was greatly pleased that the duty which he had to perform had fallen to his lot. Bro. Jolliffe was a gentleman who had formed a very high ideal of Masonry, and he was one who liberally carried out the tenets of the Order. He congratulated the members of the Lodge upon having a gentleman acting as Secretary to the Lodge who took such an interest in the Craft, and who was possessed of so much energy and activity. Bro. Jolliffe not only was Secretary of that Lodge, but he was Treasurer of two other Lodges, and a Past Master of three Lodges, besides having been for many years a most consistent supporter of the Masonic Charities. On behalf of the Lodge he had to present to their respected friend the handsome service of plate which they saw before him. It bore the inscription:—"Presented to Bro. E. Y. Jolliffe by the members of the Aldersgate Lodge as a slight token of gratitude for his invaluable services as Secretary, and in recognition of his constant and uniform kindness to the members and their friends." Bro. Jolliffe thanked the members of the Lodge for the handsome manner in which they had recognised his services to the Lodge. In that Lodge he had received nothing but kindness from the whole of the brethren, and for any little service which he had rendered he had always felt most amply repaid by the courtesy with which he was always received by the brethren. He also thanked the members for the valuable presentation they had made to him. Bros. Lovett and Hudson (who had come from Yorkshire to do honour to the Worshipful Master) replied for the Visitors, and other toasts followed, including the Past Masters, the Treasurer and Secretary of the Lodge, and the proceedings closed. An excellent selection of music was performed, under the direction of Bro. Sidney Tower, by Miss Ada Patterson, Miss Eleanor Rees; Bros. Reginald Groome, Robert Hellin, Victor Buziau, and H. W. Schartau—City Press.

IMPORTANT TESTIMONIAL from the Rev. F. FARVIS, Baptist Minister.

Mr. G. EADE. March 19, 1887.
Dear Sir,—I have many times felt inclined to inform you of the benefit I have received by taking your Gout and Rheumatic Pills. After suffering for some time from Rheumatism and Sciatica, I was advised to use your Pills. I bought a bottle, and when in severe pain and unable to use the limb affected I took a dose. In a few hours after I felt the pain much better, and after the second dose the pain completely removed and the limb restored to its right use. I thank you, dear Sir, for sending forth such a boon for the relief of human suffering.
Yours faithfully,

F. FARVIS,
Baptist Minister.

WORTH A GUINEA A BOX.

BEECHAM'S PILLS. BEECHAM'S PILLS.
 Are universally admitted to be worth a Guinea a Box for Nervous and Bilious Disorders, such as wind and pain in the stomach, sick headache, giddiness, fullness and swelling after meals, dizziness and drowsiness, cold chills, flushings of heat, loss of appetite, shortness of breath, costiveness, scurvy, blotches on the skin, disturbed sleep, frightful dreams, and all nervous and trembling sensations, &c. The first dose will give relief in twenty minutes. This is no fiction, for they have done it in thousands of cases. Every sufferer is earnestly invited to try one box of these Pills, and they will be acknowledged to be
WORTH A GUINEA A BOX.

For females of all ages these Pills are invaluable, as a few doses of them carry off all humours, and bring about all that is required. No female should be without them. There is no medicine to be found to equal BEECHAM'S PILLS for removing any obstructions or irregularity of the system. If taken according to the directions given with each box, they will soon restore females of all ages to sound and robust health.

BEECHAM'S PILLS. For a weak stomach, impaired digestion, and all disorders of the liver they act like "MAGIC," and a few doses will be found to work wonders upon the most important organs in the human machine. They strengthen the whole muscular system, restore the long-lost complexion, bring back the keen edge of appetite, and arouse in action with the ROSEBUD of health the whole physical energy of the human frame. These are the "FACTS" admitted by thousands, embracing all classes of society, and one of the best guarantees to the nervous and debilitated, is that
BEECHAM'S PILLS
